

Great Peace Academy

I started blogging in September of 2011 because I enjoy writing and I wanted to share my passion for homeschooling and Christian family life with others. I strive to encourage families, especially moms, in their roles as wife, parent, homemaker and educators.

I was both thrilled and terrified when I discovered that my son is an advanced learner, also known as gifted. We began homeschooling 8 years ago so that we could provide a customized education to meet his needs in a faith filled environment.

In addition to writing about homeschooling I also share stories and information about my family's daily life, including; meal prep and recipes, homemaking, family game nights and activities, and marriage encouragement as well as sharing other relevant content which might influence or encourage readers in a positive way.

I do this through posts on greatpeaceacademy.com.

Hi There,

I'm Renée Aleshire Brown, author, blogger, and wife to my beloved husband of 23 years, as well as a mom to one amazingly talented 12 year old son, whom I homeschool.

My family and I live in the Kansas City, Missouri area although my roots run deep in the hills of West Virginia.

I am passionate about nurturing family through Biblical guidance. When I am not homeschooling you will find me writing, drinking a cup of coffee, and I love cooking for family and friends.

Writing is another passion of mine which is why I blog. My guiding principle for life, homeschooling and blogging comes from scripture. Specifically, Isaiah 54:13. I look forward to working with you.

Blessings of Peace to You,

Renée

What Others are Saying

Testimonials

"We have worked with Renee at iHomeschool Network for over two years. During that time, she has taken on greater responsibilities including organizing and executing Twitter parties with multiple companies, organizing link-ups that include dozens of bloggers, and organizing publication projects for the network. Although there are very few people we entrust with delegated tasks, we are completely hands-off when it comes to Renee. Renee is thorough, eager to learn, and receives instruction with a professional attitude.

It is very refreshing to work with someone who respects both herself and her clients. Aware of her limitations, Renee is honest about what she has time for and will not take on more than she can handle in an overly eager bid for more work. Renee is ethical, sincere, self-directed, and on time with due dates."

Amy Stults and Jimmie Lanley, co-owners iHomeschool Network, LLC

"Working with Renée is always a pleasure! She's fast, efficient and knows exactly what I need - even when I don't quite know myself. Highly recommended!"

Cindy at Our Journey Westward and Shining Dawn Books.

"I highly recommend working with Renee. Working with her has not only been a great experience, but she is detail-oriented, reliable and super-responsive. I especially like that she is prompt to update me. Because my blog is constantly changing, Renee is comfortable trying new tasks and has valuable input. When I need help again, she is top on the list to be part of my virtual staff!"

Tina at Tina's Dynamic Homeschool Plus

"Renee Brown is a delight to work with as a Virtual Assistant. She is sharp, proficient and thorough in her work. I appreciate her excellence and the fact that she is prompt in her responses, keeping me well-informed of the project status. I highly recommend her for all your virtual needs."
